Summer Safety

As a liney, Max and Pippa have special clothing that let them touch power lines safely. Connect the dots to see them all.

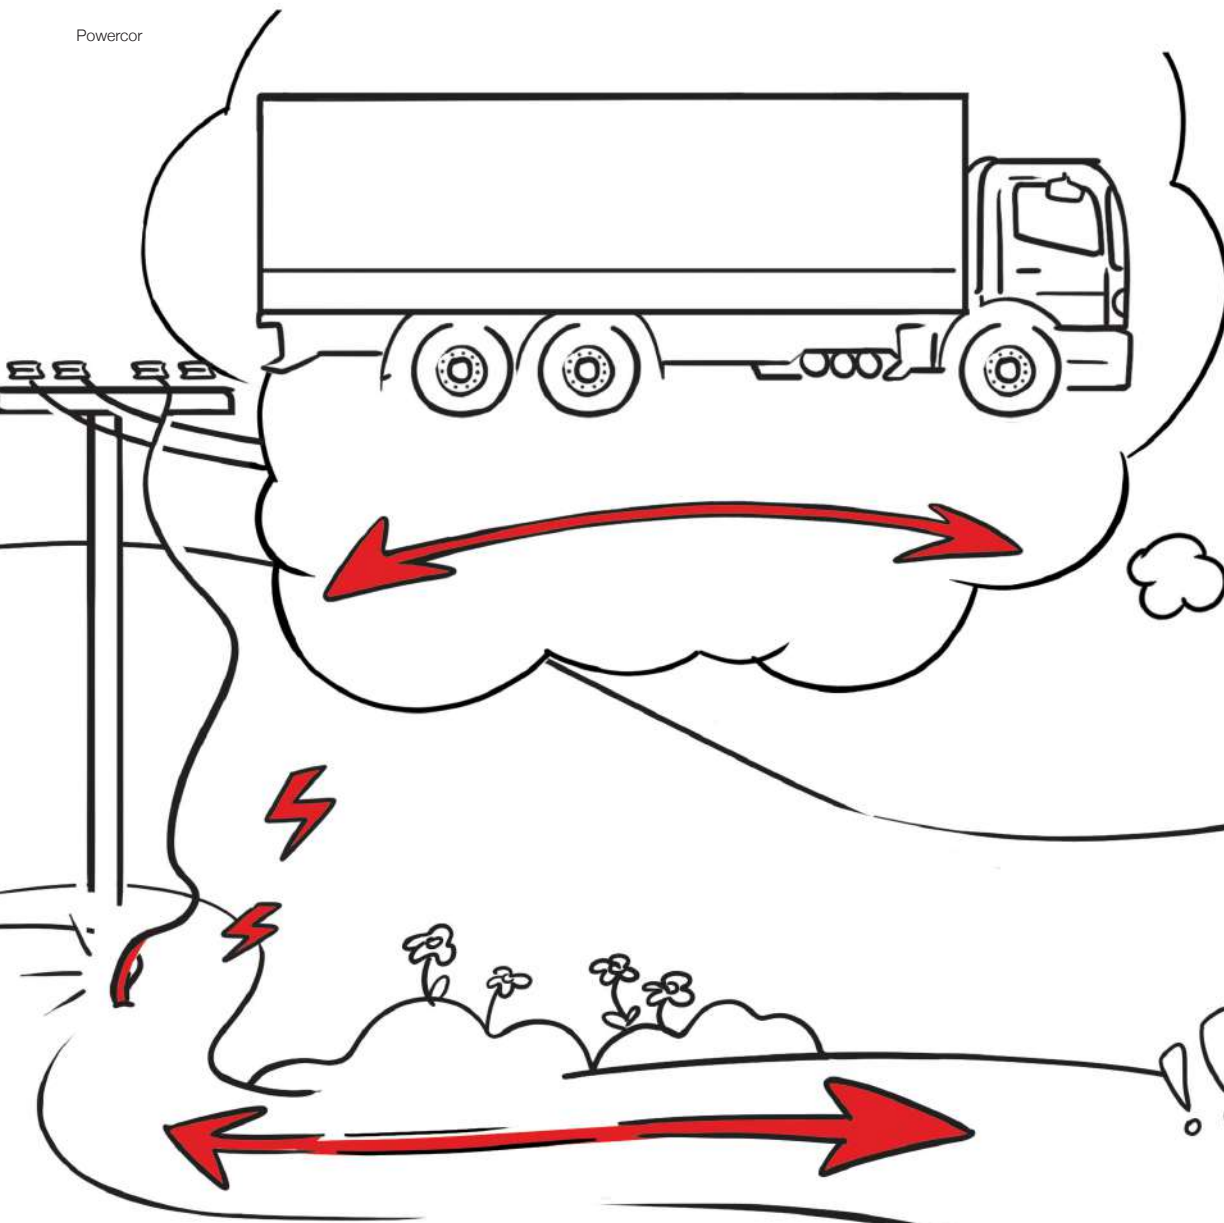

Stop playing outdoors if you see lightning or hear thunder. Follow the maze to help Pippa get home.

Safety Tip

- Thunderstorms can produce lightning which is a safety hazard. Stay out of water and away from trees during a storm and seek shelter indoors.

If you see a fallen powerline, ask an adult to call us on 13 24 12 and stay at least 10 metres away, which is about the length of a big truck. Colour in the page and note the distance.

Summer Power Outages

- Have a back up plan if you need to rely on electricity to care for family members, babies or pets at home.
- Fully charge your mobile phone, iPad and other electronic devices so you can still talk with other people.
- If you know an outage is planned, then download your favourite movies or TV shows to your devices so you don't miss out during an outage.

School's out for summer, and that means you're outside having fun. Spot the four electrical dangers in this picture.

Find the names of things that can affect your power during the summer.
